==Violation==

Description:
To Florence City Council,
We have a family living in a camper directly behind my home. They have been living in this camper for the passed 3 weeks without running water or a place to dispose of waste. I spoke to Florence Code Enforcement last week and it sounded like they were looking into this code violation. The camper is still there and the family is still living in it. This is located in the rear parking lot of the Faith Fellowship Foursquare (1624 US-101, Florence, OR 97439). I understand people fall on hard times but this is in violation of city code and not a proper way to raise a child. Rather than allow people to break city ordinances Faith Fellowship Foursquare could find legal accommodations with one of their church goers that would help this family. It came to my attention when I saw a residence of this camper peering in my back window.

I've seen people living in campers in several locations of Florence. If there is an ordinance why is code enforcement unable to address these issues? I know one of the other campers was being used by meth addicts and the neighbors had to remedy the problem. If possible, can it be made easier for Code Enforcement to address these issues in the city?

Respectfully,

John Q. Public
