Turn Your Weekend Blue!

Three days to celebrate children, families, and communities –
a hopeful end to Child Abuse Prevention Month.
Visit GetInvolvedLaneCounty.org for more information.

Friday, April 27

This is the day to make a visible commitment to preventing child abuse. Whether it's blue denim, blue suede shoes, or an old blue T-shirt, stand with your community in supporting thriving families and safe children. Snap photos of yourself in your blue finery and post to social media.

Saturday, April 28

It's a day off from work, but prevention doesn't have to be work. Find family volunteer opportunities through the United Way website at www.volunteeruwlane.org, or try an activity from the CAPM website:

- Create your own pinwheel or tackle a coloring sheet.
- Take a road trip to discover all of the county's pinwheel gardens.

Sunday, April 29

The traditional day of prayer for an end to child abuse is now more than just a Sunday – on whatever day your faith tradition celebrates, make it a point to speak with one voice in favor of healthy, nurtured kids. On Sunday, you're also invited to a Child Abuse Prevention Month Open House at the Siuslaw Public Library from 2-4 p.m. Participate in fun activities for the whole family, learn about prevention strategies being implemented in West Lane, and enjoy refreshments.
